St. Anthony of Padua is best known as the finder of lost objects, but his life offers many lessons for us today.

Anthony (95-1231) began as a scholarly monk, but joined the new Franciscan Order to become a missionary friar. Chronic illness, however, kept Anthony from such an adventures and he was assigned to work in a friary kitchen. One day, he was called on to be a substitute preacher. He astonished the other friars by his humble eloquence and knowledge of the Bible.

Anthony came to the attention of Saint Francis of Assisi. Francis was a charismatic and spiritual leader, and was suspicious of theological training – but Anthony changed his mind. Soon Anthony became a great preacher and teacher. Anthony and other friars helped win back Catholics who had lapsed because of their frustration with priest and Church leaders. The Franciscans’ mission of serving the poor also inspired other Christians to greater charity. The custom developed of celebrating the saint’s feast by donating bread to the poor in gratitude to God for Anthony’s intercession – the saint is often depicted with loaves. Today, instead of giving “St. Anthony’s Bread” to show thanks for our many blessings, we can find other ways to share what we have with our brothers and sisters in need, near and far.

“St. Anthony of Padua, protect all our neighbours and open our hearts to their needs.” Amen.
